

ABOUT THE CITY.

The Mortal Remains of Tom Roche Laid to Rest.

A LONG FUNERAL PROCESSION.

The Will of Mrs. Talbert Filed for Probate. The Fenchels Ordered Out. A New Tanning Process.

Fort Worth Fenchels Attention.

You are commanded to be present at the funeral of the late Tom Roche, at 2 o'clock p. m., Sunday, July 12, 1903, for interment.

In the Courts.

The county court was engaged yesterday in the probate of the will of Mrs. J. Talbert, which was filed for probate. The estate is valued at $10,000 and is distributed among several heirs.

New Tanning Material.

At the Pickwick yesterday there was an exhibition of the new tanning material. The leather is of a fine quality and is very durable. It is made from a special process and is very cheap.

Well Received in Chicago.

A telegram received yesterday from T. J. Hines, president of the Texas World's fair exhibit association, now in Chicago, says that the fair is very successful and that the exhibits are well received.

A Little Love Novel.

Little Love Novel, which sustained such a painful fracture of her foot, is doing much better. Her mother, a lady of rare musical and social culture, who is visiting friends in the city, has the sympathy of the community.

Furnishers are enjoying more leisure now.

Furnishers are enjoying more leisure now. Corn was never higher, and cotton gives promise of a golden yield.
